Placerville Platoon In State Guard Shares In Festivity On Monday

One Platoon of Company 18 in the State Guard went from Placerville to Sacramento Monday afternoon to march with other uniformed bodies in the annual convention parade of the California Department of the American Legion.

The unit, with the exception of the Sacramento state guard company, was the only state guard unit in the parade and marched under the command of Captain T. S. Marlor, First Lieut. C. E. Olmstead and Second Lieut. Arthur Miller.

Following the parade, officials commended the company for its excellent showing in the parade in consideration of its having been formed only a few weeks ago. The company was invited by Legion convention officials to share in the Tuesday evening entertainment program.

3-Hour Parade

SACRAMENTO, (UP)—Ten thousand persons marched Monday in the grand parade of the 23rd annual California convention of the American Legion, which took three hours to pass the reviewing stand.

Today's convention business centered on the contest for the position of state commander of the Legion. Robert Garner of San Bernardino and John D. Home of Hollywood were nominated to succeed the present commander, William J. Farrell of Petaluma. About 2600 Legionnaires will be qualified to vote in the elections tomorrow.

Gov. Culbert L. Olson and novelist, Rupert Hughes were featured speakers at yesterday's opening business sessions. Olson called for unity behind the foreign policy of President Roosevelt. Hughes, who is commander of Los Angeles units of the California State Guard, urged extension of the term of service of selectees and national guardsmen.

Nominees for department officers include Ralph Mitchell, Marysville, first area vice commander.

U. C. Enrollment Opens Aug. 21

Drop In Attendance This Year Is Expected Owing To Defense Plan Influence

BERKELEY—Registration for the fall semester on the Berkeley campus of the University of California will begin Thursday, August 21, with University officials predicting a decided drop in enrollment because of the national defense program.

It was predicted that enrollment will drop by about 1000 students, from 15,581 last year to approximately 14,500.

Dr. Monroe E. Deutsch, vice-president and provost of the University, said that the decrease in enrollment will be caused by several factors connected with national defense: drafting of young men for selective service; voluntary entrance of college men in various branches of the armed forces and in activities contributing to national defense; and increasing opportunities for employment.

Residents of California will be required to pay an incidental fee of $27.50 at the time of registration. This fee pays for medical care, gym equipment and other privileges. Out-of-state registrants must pay a fee of $75.

FIRE SUSPECT IS RETURNED

Charles Edward McKay Was Sought During June With Worley McMurray

State Division of Forestry investigators Taylor and Prewther booked Charles Edward McKay, 24, at the county jail Tuesday morning on charges of arson.

McKay had been taken into custody at Eureka, when he was released from jail for a motor vehicle act infraction. The county sheriff's office had been advised earlier in July that McKay was being held at Eureka.

The presence of McKay at the county jail renewed interest in the search for Worley McMurray, who escaped from custody on July 12th. McMurray was being sought during the latter part of June and the first few days of July by the State Division of Forestry along with McKay, for questioning in connection with fires in the Somerset section.

Although McKay disappeared and, as subsequent events showed, went to Humboldt County, McMurray became associated with Ray Vincent and is alleged to have participated with him in a series of acts of banditry on the south side of the county starting about July 4 and for several days and nights thereafter.

The two, Vincent and McMurray, were taken into custody on the morning of July 8th, the latter being removed a few days later to Placerville Sanatorium, from which he escaped on July 12.

Vincent subsequently pleaded guilty and is in prison.

McKay was being questioned on Tuesday morning by Messrs. Taylor and Prewther and State Fire Warden Willard Austin and Sheriff George M. Smith.

NAZIS LAUNCH THIRD MAJOR OFFENSIVE

Darlan Gets Full Command Of French Armed Forces; Berlin And Moscow Bombed

BY JOE ALEX MORRIS

U. P. Foreign Editor

Germany started her third big drive against the red army in the north and south ends of the eastern front today but suffered a setback in the central sector.

The main theaters of military and diplomatic maneuvering included:

Russia—German forces reported successful operations against the red army in the Ukraine, although no specific gains were disclosed in pinpoints operations around Kiev and Odessa. Moscow reported heavy fighting on the Ukraine and Leningrad fronts, where no change in general positions was reported. The nazis were reported pushed back on the Smolensk sector defending Moscow. Intensive aerial operations were reported by both sides, including raids on Berlin and Moscow.

France—Full power over the armed forces of the French Empire were placed in the hands of Vice Premier Admiral Francois Darlan, while Marshal Henri Philippe Petain was authorized to announce social and economic reforms (including wage increases) to the French nation.

The Vichy action was explained officially as designed to "synchronize" military forces with the political leadership. It appeared to give Darlan increased power over Gen. Maxime Weygand's forces in North Africa, which have been viewed in friendly fashion by London, but at the same time the Petain-Darlan regime still was far from meeting the demands of the pro-German press in Paris.

Questions of French colonial bases, needed by the axis powers, remained open, with the Vichy regime ostensibly pledged to defend African ports such as Dakar against any aggressor.

F. R. Anchored In Fog, Last Report

No Word Since Saturday On President; Rumors Of Churchill Visit Recalled

WASHINGTON, (UP)—There has been no news since Saturday morning from President Roosevelt's yacht Potomac, which presumably is cruising off the North Atlantic coast.

During last week brief dispatches from the yacht were received each day by the navy here. None of these radio messages, however, stated explicitly that Mr. Roosevelt was aboard the Potomac. They were confined chiefly to an account of weather and fishing conditions. The last dispatch on Saturday said that the Potomac was anchored in fog. Since Mr. Roosevelt left New London, Conn., on August 3, on the vacation cruise, there have been persistent rumors that he had or would meet British Prime Minister Winston Churchill, perhaps on a warship on this side of the Atlantic. The rumors have been neither confirmed nor denied.

LOCAL DEFENSE LIONS' TOPIC

United Press Correspondent To Be Speaker Aug. 26th, Entertainment Head Notes

Lion District Attorney Henry S. Lyon was the guest speaker for Tuesday's regular luncheon meeting of Placerville Lions, held at Hotel Raffles.

Following the meeting, Lion Leo Burger announced that the entertainment committee for the month has arranged for John Dunlap, United Press Correspondent at Sacramento, to be the speaker at the August 26th meeting. Mr. Dunlap will report on the manner in which the biggest news story of the day, the war in Europe, is handled by the major press associations.

The entertainment program for the August 19th meeting is being arranged by Lion Loren Atwood, Lion Burger said.

District Attorney Lyon, as chairman of the council of defense, reviewed the organization of the committee and some of the work that the committee members might be called upon to supervise in El Dorado County in a war-time emergency or other situation threatening the regular daily life of the community.

The Lions approved an expenditure of ten dollars on behalf of the club to the July 4 civic decorations contest and also approved a membership application.

The report of the committee on dispensing soda water to the crowds at the recent Soap Box Derbies showed a net profit of $72 for the club's wading pool fund.

INSTALLMENT BUYING TO BE CURBED

General Tightening Of Credit Purchases Seen In Projected Regulation

WASHINGTON, (UP)—The federal reserve board today drafted regulations restricting installment purchases of automobiles, washing machines, vacuum cleaners and other durable goods.

President Roosevelt ordered a curb on the $7,000,000,000 a year credit business to halt inflationary trends and lessen the demand for merchandise absorbing materials needed for defense production.

The regulations, which involve restrictions on bank loans to financing companies and tighter terms for time payments, will be discussed when the board meets with representatives of financial institutions here Thursday and Friday. Promulgation is expected shortly thereafter.

Contracts for time payment purchases signed prior to promulgation of the regulations will not be affected. Neither will the so-called open book accounts, such as those which the housewife maintains at the grocery or department store, for the present.

Chairman Marriner Eccles of the board said that residential building and durable goods bought for production purposes, such as farm implements, will be exempt from the initial regulation.

Officials declined to reveal in advance of the discussions methods by which the controls will be exercised. Previous statements have indicated, however, that they would include a requirement for a larger down payment, a reduction in the time allowed for payment, and restrictions on bank loans to financing companies.

Thus a housewife contracting to purchase a vacuum cleaner on the installment plan might be required (Continued on Page Four)

Strikes Menace Defense Work

Navy Secretary Confers On Suggestion To Take Over New Jersey Shipyard

By UNITED PRESS
Strikes threatened production of materials and weapons for all the branches of the armed forces today.

As Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox conferred with L. H. Korndorff, president of the federal shipbuilding and drydock company, upon a proposal that the navy take over the company's strikebound Kearney, N. J., plant, a walkout of 800 AFL laborers stopped work on a $4,500,000 naval expansion program at Portsmouth, N. H.

Union officials said the laborers were demanding 12½ cent hourly wage increases to 75 cents.

At Allentown, Pa., 4700 members of the United Automobile workers (CIO) halted work to bolster demands that the Mack Manufacturing Company make recent wage reclassifications retroactive to Aug. 8, instead of Aug. 16. About 4000 members of both AFL and CIO textile workers unions were idle at Arlington Mills at Lawrence, Mass. An AFL spokesman said only 400 workers in two departments were on Robin Godine, rich society girl, falls in love with Cary Craig, who is paying his way through medical school by working for an escort bureau, and whom she met through Bettina Bradley, society reporter. She hires him to go about with her. He secretly loves her but, because of her wealth, hides his feelings. Her father, John Godine, determined to break up their association, maneuvers to get Cary out of the escort bureau by indirectly financing his medical training. He arranges this through Cary's foster father, whom he used to know and whom he once treated shabbily. However, Cary, finally overcoming his scruples about Robin's wealth, becomes engaged to her, with the understanding that they will not marry until he is established as a doctor. Godine, hearing this, withdraws the money he put up, having no wish to help Cary to his goal. He tells Robin he will never let her marry Cary. They have a bitter quarrel.

CHAPTER XXVII
"HATE my father! I hate him!" Robin said fiercely between sobs. "I'm going to leave home, Bettina!"
"No, no, honey," her friend soothed. "You can't do that."
"But he's mean and hateful and selfish!"
"Time adjusts all things. Robin. Some day he'll see his mistake."
"No, he won't! He isn't fair—ever! Let me tell you what he did to Jed Prosser..."
Bettina listened without comment as Robin told of the things she had learned by questioning and deduction the day before.
"So you see," she ended, "how he is. He's bent on getting his own way! And I just can't let him interfere with Cary and me!"
"No, of course not," Bettina comforted. "But all things change with time. Your father will change—you'll see. Why not be patient, honey, and let things take their course?"
After a little more argument Bettina finally prevailed upon Robin at least not to run away from home, and succeeded in calming her a bit.

MEANWHILE, Robin's father had reached a decision. He realized that there was nothing he could do to make Robin give up her plans to marry Cary Craig. But in a business crisis, if John Godine didn't get his way by one method, he found another. So it was in this matter. He had decided he must talk to Cary.
He found him at the medical school, and went straight to the point.
"Robin tells me she's engaged to marry you," he began.
"Yes, sir—I intended to come and see you about it."
"Well, I've come to you. Go ahead. What have you to say?"
"First, I want you to know I love your daughter," Cary said. "And I want you to understand that I have no designs whatever on her money."
"My money," Godine corrected. "Well, then, your money," Cary granted. "I intend to make some myself before we marry. I hope to get ahead."
"I understand that—but it will take years."
Cary nodded. "That's the diff-

Jealousy Makes Child Suffer

GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

Most parents seldom realize how much suffering a child may have to endure because of jealousy.

Concerning a girl 9 with a brother 6, a mother writes:

"She has always been a child who has cried easily. Even when a little thing, if she was disciplined in any way, she would cry and go to the room and sob and moan until she would be deathly white and limp.

"During these periods, after her brother was born, I was in a very nervous condition and in bad health for some months. I know that I scolded her harshly at times.

"Then again her father was always so proud of his son that while he showed no partiality in giving to them he undoubtedly put her in the background and showed off the boy.

Bright and Healthy

"Every night when I tuck her in bed and kiss her she will say, 'Mother, do you love me? I love you.' This seems to be about her only worry—that I won't love her.

"She, according to the doctor, is in the best of health. She gets excellent marks in school. Her teachers say they never have a bit of trouble with her.

"But at home she changes completely. She nags and complains from morning till night."

How would you and I act and feel in that child's face? I must confess that I suffered with this child as I read the letter, though I tried to remember that the mother and father have also suffered over this problem.

Terrible Jealousy

As kindly as I could, I wrote the mother trying to get her to see that her daughter's conduct comes from terrible jealousy; that this child supposes she is not loved at all while her brother is. Apparently the child never has had much affection, very little approval from her parents, and much scolding, slapping and switching. The more punishment she got the more sure she was of no love. Then while she was whipped into doing things her brother cooperated and was applauded for it.

I urged the mother and father to stop using corporal punishment, to cut down on any sort of punishment and show her abundant, real affection, and play up her successes and good traits, being careful never to compare her unfavorably with her brother.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. Give an economical way of preparing orange juice.

A. You will not, of course, let orange juice stand since it loses some of the Vitamin C when exposed to the air. Louise Zabriskie (Mother and Baby Care in Pictures) writes: "An economical and safe method of preparing the orange juice is to cut a small piece from one end of an orange and squeeze the juice from that piece for one feeding; then turn the orange so that the cut surface is against the plate, saucer or paper. It should be kept in the ice box or some cool place until the next feeding time. Then cut off another piece of the orange and squeeze out a fresh spoonful or the amount needed. By repeating this method one orange may be used for three or four feedings."

And about tomato juice, she says: "Tomato juice, even though it is canned, may be used as a substitute or an alternate for orange juice. Strain the portion to be used for the baby when the can is opened and keep it closely covered in the ice box or other cool place. Twice as much tomato juice as orange juice should be given to the baby to provide the necessary amount of Vitamin C. The Vitamin C content of these juices is given to the baby to prevent scurvy."

RAPID GROWTH OF NATION-WIDE NETWORK OF AIR FREIGHT LINES SEEN BY UNITED AIRLINES HEAD

By DAVID N. JOHNSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, (UP)—The rapid growth of a nation-wide network of air freight service with major airlines operating a single pool of cargo ships following the war was predicted today by W. A. Patterson, president of United Airlines.

Patterson said in an interview that airlines already are planning an air freight corporation with the planes being owned jointly and finances to be handled on a proportionate sharing basis in order to eliminate freight transfers at division points.

Freight hauls, he said, would be handled by airlines where there would be an advantage in speed over a long haul instead of short hauls where surface transportation would be adequate.

Patterson said that he does not believe that advances in design brought about by mass military production of large bombers will be of special benefit to commercial aviation.

"Military design," he said "emphasizes maneuverability at high speed. Commercial design calls for safety and maneuverability at low speed under all conditions."

Patterson declared that perhaps

$47,000,000, FORD BOMBER PLANT TAKES FORM

DEARBORN, Mich.—Construction crews are working at top speed on this new defense project—the huge $47,000,000 bombing plane factory the Ford Motor Company is building at Willow Run, near here. The structural framework of the big "L"-shaped plant will contain approximately 25,000 tons of steel. When completed next year, it will produce giant four-engine Consolidated B-24D bombers and sub-assemblies for national defense. The plant will include its own airport, hangars, machine shop, and assembly building nearly a mile in length. Total floor space, including hangars, will be nearly 3,700,000 square feet. Factory floor area alone will be 2,547,000 square feet.

HIGHWAY SAFETY LEGISLATION HAS BANNER YEAR DESPITE NATIONAL PRE-OCCUPATION WITH DEFENSE PROBLEMS

CHICAGO—Despite official pre-occupation with problems of national defense, 1941 was a banner year for highway safety legislation throughout the nation, the National Safety Council reported today.

With only a handful of the 43 state legislatures which met this year still in session, a survey by the Council showed the following developments:

- Seven states strengthened the drivers' license laws: Florida, Nevada (enactment of standard measure), New York, Okla., Texas, Utah and Wisconsin.
  - Three states passed Act V of the Uniform Vehicle Code (regulation of traffic on the highways): Florida, Ohio and Utah. The Ohio measure did not contain the accident reporting requirements contained in the standard law.
  - Four states made major changes in accident reporting: Delaware, Maryland, Minnesota and New York.
  - Six states increased their highway patrols. Increases in number of men: California, 40; Florida, 70; Ohio, 100; Oklahoma, 30; Texas, 200 and Wyoming 5.
  - Safety commissions were created in two states: Maryland and Michigan. Funds were made available for the New York Traffic Safety Commission.
  - Three states recognized drunken driving tests: New York, Oregon (Portland only) and Texas.
  - Two states reduced first offense drunken driving from a felony to a misdemeanor in an effort to obtain more convictions: Oklahoma and Texas.
  - In addition to speed provisions of the traffic regulatory measures (Act V of the Uniform Vehicle Code), four states enacted new speed legislation: Delaware, New Mexico, Oregon and South Dakota.
  - One state created a new motor vehicle department: North Carolina. Indiana and Colorado moved motor vehicle administration to other departments.
  - Three states moved the administration of highway patrol: Illinois to the department of public safety; Nebraska, to the direction of the superintendent of safety, and Nevada, to the public service commission.
- Summarizing one of the most important years in the history of traffic safety legislation, the Council pointed out that approximately two-thirds of the states now have standard drivers' license laws and only three—Louisiana, South Dakota and Wyoming—have none at all.

Thirty-eight states now have adopted Act V of the Uniform Vehicle Code, and the laws of approximately 35 states now conform basically to national standards for accident reporting legislation.

FARM PARADE

More and more farmers throughout the country are building small dams to provide ponds. To the ordinary observer, a pond on a farm is usually just a stagnant, small body of water. But it's mighty important to the farmer. He uses these ponds for everything from furnishing water for home use, maintaining springs, and supplying water to livestock, to harvesting ice.

But there's still another important use—providing a home for wildlife—raising fish, or frogs, or muskrats in the pond itself, and providing the right kind of vegetation for wildlife food and shelter around the edges of the pond.

According to the agriculture department, handling one of those ponds successfully is as much an art as growing a good crop of corn or potatoes. If you want the latest tips on pond building write the agriculture department in Washington and ask for farmers' bulletin Number 1879.

Here are some briefs from the farm front—the farm security administration, in a report on seven years of its operation, says that it expects to lose about 20 per cent of the funds lent to farmers. Grand Island, Nebraska, will be the scene of the first regional conference on the government program to improve rural diets; extension experts from Kansas, Nebraska, Wyoming and Colorado will attend the conference to promote installation of equipment used to process food in community centers. A new line of hens being developed at Beltsville, Maryland, lays eggs that have a high percentage of thick whites—they're especially good for poaching.

PEACH PIE . . . "KIVVERED, UNKIVVERED AND PARTLY KIVVERED"

You've all heard the story of the waitress in the country hotel who told the stranger he could have his choice of three kinds of pie . . . "Kivvered, Unkivvered and Partly Kivvered . . . all apple". But did you know that you could make three kinds of peach pie, too?

Of course, there's the regular luscious two-crust peach pie we're all familiar with . . . the kind that the waitress would designate as "kivvered". And, of course, there's the "partly kivvered" lattice top peach pie. While for the "unkivvered" variation we have a lovely peach-filled cream pie.

This is really an old-time favorite. But somehow not very many seem to have heard of it. So I'm going to give you this recipe first.

PEACH CREAM PIE

1 unbaked 9-inch pie shell
3 medium-sized peaches
¾ cup sugar

3 tbs. all-purpose flour
½ tsp. cinnamon
¾ cup cream

Peel peaches, cut in halves and remove stones. Arrange peach halves, rounded side up, in an unbaked pie shell. Mix the flour, sugar and cinnamon together and sprinkle over the peaches. Pour cream over all. Bake 40 minutes, having the oven preheated to 450° F. (hot oven), when the pie goes in. After ten minutes, reduce the temperature to 350° F. (moderate oven) for the remaining 30 minutes.

Delicious in Tarts, Too

This peach cream filling makes delicious tarts. Line 6 muffin pans with pastry. Place ½ of a fresh peach (rounded side up) in each cup. Sprinkle each with 1/6 of the sugar, sugar and cinnamon mixture and pour 1/6 of the cream over each. Bake.

"Kivvered"

An here's the recipe for the regular two-crust peach pie . . .

Pastry for 9-inch pie
9 medium-sized peaches (4 cups peeled, stoned and sliced)
1 tsp. melted butter for pie shell

¾ cup sugar (1 cup minus 2 tbs.)
4 tbs. flour
1 tsp. butter
½ tsp. cinnamon

Place bottom pastry in pie pan loosely, brush with 1 tsp. melted butter and chill thoroughly. Cut slits in top crust, place on waxed paper and chill. Sprinkle some of the sugar and flour, which have been mixed together, over the chilled pie shell in the pan. Put half of the fruit over this . . . cover with more of the sugar and flour. Add the rest of the fruit and sprinkle with the rest of the flour mixture . . . then with the cinnamon and dot with butter. Add about 2 tbs. water if filling doesn't seem to have much juice. Place chilled pastry over top. Build up fluted edge. Bake 40 minutes having the oven preheated to 450° F. (hot oven) when the pie is put in, and reducing the heat to 350° F. (moderate oven) after the first 10 minutes.

Serve slightly warm. A scoop of vanilla or almond ice cream on top of this peach pie makes a delicious "a la mode" dessert.

"Partly Kivvered"

A lattice top is very attractive on a peach pie. After rolling out dough for top crust, cut it into ¼ inch wide strips. Weave these together, lattice fashion, on waxed paper. Chill thoroughly. Then lay lattice top gently over filling in under crust in pie pan. Cut off ends extending beyond edge of pan. Pinch edges of upper and lower crust together as when building up a fluted edge for a pie with a plain top.

CALIFORNIA LEADS NATION IN NATIONAL DEFENSE CONTRACTS

California led all other states in national defense expenditures and contracts awarded during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1941. On that date total expenditures and contract awards in this state amounted to $2,061,525,000. The state of New York held second place with $1,754,629,000.

New Jersey was third with $1,469,899,000; Pennsylvania ranked fourth with $1,342,343,000; and Michigan was fifth with $1,094,917,000.

These figures are derived from an analysis made by the Research Department of the California State Chamber of Commerce from tabulations issued from the office of government reports.

Officials said that if the volume of open account purchases of durable goods become too great the restrictions could be extended to cover them.

Small personal loans from banks would be subject to regulation, it was explained, if the funds are to be used to purchase durable goods. Thus it may become more difficult to borrow money to pay for a new automobile.

Officials indicated that the regulations will affect the automobile business hardest because approximately $2,500,000 of the $7,000,000, 000 in outstanding installment accounts represents automobile sales.

The executive order directing the board to regulate consumer credit was signed by Mr. Roosevelt Saturday during his vacation cruise. He acted under the powers given the executive in the trading-with-the-enemy act of 1917 and under his national emergency proclamation of last May 27.

WHAT'S WHAT AT A GLANCE

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

OPM Director William S. Knudsen won an important battle in his fight with Interior Secretary Harold L. Ickes when he knocked out the latter's drive for total control of the country's hydro-electric power.

Wm. S. Knudsen

It remains to be seen how successful he will be in his struggle to defeat Leon Henderson's effort to add production regulation to his Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply's authority over the amount of cash we have to pay for life's necessities.

Bill Knudsen had some help in his resistance to Secretary Ickes' attempt. Harold had grabbed so much already and has been trying to grab so much more that he'd alienated a number of department heads and agencies.

Harold's pretty potent just as in his secretary. He has, in fact, a lot to say about power generation, through his department's control of coal and oil production.

However, this wasn't enough for Ickes. He wanted to include hydro-electric energy—to develop it and to ration it out. It was a scheme resented not only by Bill Knudsen, but by the Federal Power commission and the Tennessee Valley Authority also.

He proposed likewise to take charge of national transportation, a notion which set the Federal Commerce commission by the ears, as well as the railroads, bus and truck companies and steamboat lines.

And he sought domination of telephone, telegraph and the radio, which made the Federal Communications commission hot under the collar.

What's more, in times of emergency, the war and navy departments consider communications supervision among their prerogatives, so Harold made THEM sore.

For quite awhile he's been trying to take the forestry bureau away from the agriculture department, which consequently is angry with him.

Circumventing Ickes

Well, what Bill Knudsen did was to create a power unit, under J. A. Krug, of the Office of Production Management, to stir up more and more hydro-electric energy and dish it out, split up between defensive and civilian industries, as it thinks best—precisely the job that Harold had desired to become czar of. And Bill's making his system stick, perhaps not so much because he's so popular as because Harold's so much the other way.

There's gossip in Washington to the effect that Harold's aim has been to make such a mogul out of himself that he'll have to be presidentially nominated next time. If so, Bill's thrown a wrench into his campaign.

Not even Bill disputes that Leon Henderson's the country's official price fixer. True, the question's quite generally asked whether or not he can make his price fixations stick. He has had to rely largely upon exhortations and appeals.

Which have worked fairly well but not 100 per cent. and it's surmised that his success percentage will shrink as the pinch gets worse.

What Leon would like is more legal authority, so that he can hold inflation down by force.

That's a detail, though, that doesn't concern Bill.

It's when Leon announces that production of autos, for civilian use, must be cut down 50 per cent., practically instantaneously, that Bill objects. Leon's idea is that auto curtailment will permit auto factories to switch over to larger outputs of defensive stuff. Bill says that's alright, but the transformation can't be effected so fast—that an army of workers will be out of jobs while it's going on. He adds that production management's HIS stunt, not Leon's—Leon's is limited to price fixing. Well, it's a fact that Bill's a practical production expert, while Leon's only an economist.

Here's Another

Another scheme's suggested in Washington.

It is that the government should buy all of every kind of raw material that's required for both defensive and civilian processing, and then ration it out to manufacturers in proportion to what it's obvious that conditions demand. It can't possibly be done intelligently, argue the proposition's proponents.

except under strict central government control—if it's left to chance and individual whim and market fluctuations it won't work.

Skeptics reply that it sounds like a pretty totalitarian program. It'll involve price fixing, anyway.

—if THAT can be made to stick. Some critics insist that it can't. Leon says it can't, altogether, but that it can be done to a certain extent.

The loot, it was reported, was not of such consequence as was the damage alleged to have been done by the defendant in entering through the roof.

Sheriff Smith said that Deputy E. Y. Gray found Walrath helping the cabin owner repair the damaged roof.

HOUSE MEETS EARLY TO WIND UP DEBATE ON DRAFT EXTENSION

WASHINGTON, (UP)—The House convened two hours earlier than usual today to conclude debate and probably vote before night on the controversial resolution to keep selectees, national guardsmen and reservists in service for more than one year.

It was the first time during the 77th congress that the house had met at 10 a. m.

Administration leaders, completing 10 days of intense work on warring blocs of democratic and republican votes, were more optimistic about passage of an extension act than they were yesterday.

George Walrath, 21, of Roseville, was arrested Monday afternoon at Barton's Cabin, east of Georgetown on the road to Long Canyon, in connection with the burglary of a cabin there.

FARMER ADMITS HE'S GOING IN CIRCLES, BUT DOES SO PURPOSELY BECAUSE IT SAVES WORK

PALMYRA, Ill., (UP)—Frank Andrew has one of the most remarkable gadgets seen around these parts since Grandpa brought home a Kaleidoscope.

Andrew admits it ought to have a name, but he says it was too much work to think one up. He's opposed to work, he explains, particularly around this time of year when the weather gets pretty hot.

And that's how it happened Andrew invented his contraption for getting in the harvest by remote control. He says he'd like people to know about it who live in the city because it's too much work to be a farmer.

The device consists of an ordinary tractor and combine attached to a long piece of piano wire which Andrew fastens to a pole in the middle of the field he wants to work. It costs $10 to build.

"All I have to do is start the machinery," he explains. "When the tractor starts to move the wire winds around an old automobile wheel on top of the pole, automatically pulling the tractor toward the middle in concentric circles."

"Once in a while I have to empty the combine, of course. But that's easy. I just drive alongside with another tractor and dump the grain into a wagon without even stopping the machinery."

"The rest of the time I sit on the porch and watch."

Andrew, who is 27 and a graduate of the University of Illinois, has been farming in circles for three years. To date he has had to make only a few minor improvements, including automatic attachments to stop the tractor if the wire breaks and when it reaches the center of the field.

The device works equally well for plowing, cultivating, planting or harvesting, but Andrew only uses it on 60 acres of his 330-acre farm. The crops he produces through its use include 12 acres of Oats, 18 acres of soy beans and 30 acres of corn.

He figures the rows of corn total more than 40 miles.

"That's a lot of traveling any way you put it."

Andrew always is ready to welcome visitors to his farm. He has many: farmers from the surrounding countryside, college professors, even agricultural engineers. But he objects to requests for special demonstrations.

Nazis Launch Third Drive

Far East—Japan made clean through official spokesmen her opposition to plans for shipment of American war supplies across the Pacific to Vladivostok. The British were understood to have told Tokyo that any Japanese move against Thailand would be regarded as a threat to Singapore. Speedy delivery of 600 American "blitz buggies" to the Dutch East Indies was indicated following a visit by Brig. Gen. H. B. Claggett of the U. S. Air Force, to Bangkok.

The tanks were discarded by the aircraft factory for bullet-proof tanks and were purchased by the state forestry division. They will be mounted on light fast trucks carrying fire hose and water pumps.
